Twenty-Five Divisions of Japanese Troops in the Field.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLEGRAMS.)

BERLIN, Aug. 6.—A private telegram from Tokio says that five divisions of Japanese troops are in front of Port Arthur and twenty are operating in Manchuria. The fall of Port Arthur and the capitulation of Kuropatkin are expected simultaneously.

TWO THOUSAND LOST.

TOKIO, Aug. 6.—The Russian loss at Simoucheng is 2000. Seven hundred bodies were buried by the Japanese.

WOUNDED BY TRAINLOADS.

IRKUTSK, Aug. 6.—Trains filled with wounded are arriving daily. Food prices have doubled.

CHASING A BRITISH STEAMER.

LONDON, Aug. 6.—It is reported that two Russian cruisers are chasing the steamer which lately sailed from England to Canada with ammunition for Yokohama to be shipped via the Canadian Pacific.

A JAPANESE REPULSE.

MUKDEN, Aug. 6.—On Tuesday the Japanese attacked Anshanchan and were repulsed with heavy loss.

Anshanchan is a small town, located twenty miles south of Liaoyang, on the Port Arthur Railway. This is the point to which the Russians retired after General Oku's army had driven them northward from Tatchekiao, through Haicheng, towards Liaoyang.

RUSSIA LEARNS DISCRETION.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 6.—Naval commanders have been instructed not to sink neutral merchantmen carrying contraband goods except in necessity or emergency, but to haul the prize to a neutral port. This means that there will be no more Knight Commander episodes.

AFTERNOON REPORT.

LIAOYANG, Aug. 5.—The Japanese are landing troops at Newchwang.

TIENTSIN, Aug. 5.—It is estimated that there are 100,000 Japanese in the forces before Port Arthur.

TOKIO, Aug. 5.—The Russian loss at Simoucheng was 2,000 killed and wounded, a large quantity of ammunition and six guns. The Japanese lost 860.

PORT AU PRINCE, Aug. 5.—Forty exiles have been condemned to death by the Haytien Government.

TITLED ENGLISHWOMAN DEAD.

LONDON, Aug. 6.—Lady Tweedmouth is dead.

Lady Tweedmouth was a woman of society who had taken an active part in British politics. She was an aunt of the Duke of Marlborough. The late Mr. Gladstone had a very high opinion of her judgment and sense, and it is said that he more than once paid her the high compliment of asking her advice concerning a matter of party politics at the time when Lord Tweedmouth was Liberal whip. Her other claim to fame was that of being the best lady shot in the United Kingdom; she was an enthusiastic and indefatigable deer-stalker, and in each one of her homes had many trophies of the chase. She has been prominent as a social leader.

STORMS IN EUROPE.

LONDON, Aug. 6.—Storms on the continent have interrupted the telegraph.

EIGHT PEOPLE DROWNED.

ALTON, Aug. 6.—Seven girls and one man were drowned here yesterday while swimming in the Mississippi.

AUGUST DREIER.

MAGNIFICENT NEW CATHEDRAL FOR THE CATHOLIC MISSION

August Dreier Expects to Build One in Memory of His Daughter, the Late Juanita Dreier—Will Cost $150,000.

An imposing $150,000 Catholic cathedral of blue island stone to take the place of the present old cathedral of historical associations is planned for the French Catholic Mission in Honolulu as the gift of Hon. August Dreier, the wealthy German sugar planter of Kauai, as a memorial to his late daughter, Juanita.

The plans are as yet immature, depending largely upon the site on which the cathedral is to be erected, but the sum above mentioned is believed to be the minimum cost for which a modern cathedral can be built.

The Right Rev. Libert, Bishop of Zeugma, who is in charge of the French Mission in Hawaii, is now on the island of Hawaii, and is expected back next Tuesday on the Mauna Loa. On his return the plans that were being discussed with him by Mr. Dreier will be again taken up and some definite settlement as to site and cost may then be reached.

One plan is to have the Cathedral front on Fort street take the place of the present structure and the frame buildings used for social purposes on the mauka side of the wide passageway. It would also extend back to Garden Lane, making the building about fifty feet longer than the old structure.

Another plan is to have the cathedral built on the corner of Fort and Beretania streets extending almost down to the old building and taking in a portion of the premises on which the dormitories and offices of the clergy now stand. This plan may not be followed, however, as the corner section of the mission property is under lease to Fred Harrison. This property was excavated a few years ago, the intention of the lessee being to erect office buildings. The corner is now something of an eye-sore, as the plans of the lessee did not materialize.

Plans had also been drawn up for the repair of the present cathedral building, which are deemed quite necessary, and for extending the rear or altar portion some fifty feet to Garden Lane, thus giving more seating capacity and presenting an opportunity for installing an even more elaborate chancel and altar than the building now possesses.

Mr. Dreier was asked last evening concerning his noble project, and replied:

"I have been consulting with Bishop Libert about a new cathedral, but while we were in the midst of our discussions, he was compelled to go to Hawaii. I am awaiting his return to take them up with him again. It is my desire to erect some memorial to my dear daughter Juanita, who died sometime ago, and it was my idea that if I could assist in the building of a new Catholic cathedral, that this would be a fitting memorial. I have already endowed a Juanita Dreier bed in the Kapiolani Maternity Home.

"An architect had prepared plans for the extension of the old building which would take it back about fifty feet to Garden Lane.

SATISFACTION ALLOYED OVER KUHIO'S WALKOVER

It is generally conceded in political talk that Delegate Kuhio will be renominated for Congress by the Republicans. Another seeming certainty is that C. P. Iaukea will receive the Democratic nomination for Delegate. The Home Rule die has already been cast for C. Notley.

With regard to the Republican nomination and its apparent clinching through a snatch vote at primary nominating meetings, there is a strong undercurrent of dissatisfaction. As one of the ablest veterans among Republican party workers said yesterday:

"The Hawaiians have had two turns at holding the seat in Congress. They might now gracefully concede that a white man should have a turn at the representation of the Territory in Washington. Do they wish to hog the whole thing?"

Notwithstanding the lead that Kuhio holds in the situation, there are influential Republicans who believe and hope that Secretary Atkinson would not decline the nomination for Delegate.

It is competent for the opposition to Kuhio slates at the primaries today to send an un instructed element into the Territorial Convention, which might be strong enough at the least to compel some deliberation over the important question of the Territory's representation in Congress.

PARKER HAS RESIGNED.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 5.—Judge Alton B. Parker, Democratic nominee for President, has resigned as Chief Justice of the New York Court of Appeals.
